The planners and speakers of today’s program have disclosed no conflicts of interest or commercial support.

In order to receive contact hours, you must complete an evaluation.

Today’s session is being recorded.
Objectives

After completing this educational activity, participants will:
1. Demonstrate an understanding of the acute need for Advance Care Planning during the COVID pandemic by initiating serious illness care preference conversations
2. Describe Advance Care Planning
3. Relate the Church’s support of Advance Care Planning and the Ethical and Religious Directives for Catholic Health Care Services, 6th ed.
4. Access and use selected tools available for Advance Care Planning
5. Facilitate conversations about Advance Care Planning and the needs for Advance Directives, particularly in the current climate of COVID 19
Advance care planning can be a gift you give yourself and your family. It is about doing what you can to ensure that your wishes and preferences are consistent with the health care treatment you might receive if you were unable to speak for yourself or make your own decisions.

While many of us do not like to think that we will ever need such a plan, too often the lack of advance care planning can result in questioning, confusion, or disagreement among family members trying to envision what you would want if you were unable to speak for yourself.

5. SACRAMENTS AND SPIRITUAL CARE

I direct my Health Care Agent, in consultation with my family or with a priest or chaplain, to afford me with the opportunity to receive the Roman Catholic sacraments (Anointing of the Sick, Confession and Holy Communion), and appropriate spiritual care.

SUMMARY OF CATHOLIC TEACHING: 1. All human life is sacred, from the moment of conception to the time of natural death. 2. All human beings, regardless of physical or mental abilities, share an equal human dignity meriting both respect and protection. 3. Persons are obligated to take reasonable care of their own health by preserving and nurturing it with appropriate and ordinary (proportionate) means. But, no one is obligated to use extraordinary (disproportionate) measures to prolong life, that is, measures offering no reasonable hope of benefit or measures involving excessive hardship. 4. An agent can never be authorized to deny basic personal care every patient can rightfully expect such as bed rest, hygiene, and appropriate pain medication. Nutrition and hydration should always be provided when they are capable of sustaining human life, as long as this is of sufficient benefit to outweigh the burdens to the patient. 5. The Catholic patient should have the opportunity to receive the sacraments and appropriate spiritual care. 6. Respect for unborn human life requires that life-sustaining treatment be extended to a dying pregnant mother if continued treatment can benefit the child. 7. Suffering is a mystery. The role of medicine is to relieve the suffering of the sick by diligent research and compassionate treatment. Suffering which cannot be alleviated can become redemptive when united with the suffering love of Christ.
Five Wishes

Wish 1: The person I want to make care decisions for me when I can’t Wish 2: The kind of medical treatment I want or don’t want
Wish 3: How comfortable I want to be
Wish 4: How I want people to treat me
Wish 5: What I want my loved ones to know

Being Prepared in the Time of COVID-19

Three Things You Can Do Now

This is a challenging time. There are many things that are out of our control. But there are some things we can do to help us be prepared — both for ourselves and the people we care about. Here are three important things each of us can do, right now, to be prepared.

1. Pick your person to be your health care decision maker

2. Talk about what matters most to you

3. Think about what you would want if you became seriously ill with COVID-19

People who are older or have chronic medical conditions are more likely to become very sick if they get COVID-19. Some will recover with hospital care, but even with ventilator support many will die. Think about what you would want if you became very sick at this time:
Thought-provoking questions

What would be most important to you? (Examples: Being comfortable. Trying all possible treatments.)

What are you most worried about? (Examples: Being alone. Being in pain. Being a burden.)

What is helping you through this difficult time? (Examples: My friends. My faith. My cat.)

If you became very sick with COVID-19, would you prefer to stay where you live or go to the hospital?

If you chose to go to the hospital, would you want to receive intensive care in the hospital?

Preamble

Health care in the United States is marked by extraordinary change. Not only is there continuing change in clinical practice due to technological advances, but the health care system in the United States is being challenged by both institutional and social factors as well. At the same time, there are a number of developments within the Catholic Church affecting the societal mission of health care. Among these are significant changes in religious orders and congregations, the increased involvement of lay men and women, a heightened awareness of the Church’s social role in the world, and developments in moral theology since the Second Vatican Council. A contemporary understanding of the Catholic health care ministry must take into account the new challenges presented by transitions both in the Church and in American society.

Throughout the centuries, with the aid of other sciences, a body of moral principles has emerged that expresses the Church’s teaching on medical and moral matters and has proven to be pertinent and applicable to the ever-changing circumstances of health care and its delivery. In response to today’s challenges, these same moral principles of Catholic teaching provide the rationale and direction for the revision of the Ethical and Religious Directives for Catholic Health Care Services.
Directive 25: Each person may identify in advance a representative to make health care decisions as his or her surrogate in the event that the person loses the capacity to make health care decisions. Decisions by the designated surrogate should be faithful to Catholic moral principles and to the person’s intentions and values...

Directive 57: A person may forgo extraordinary or disproportionate means of preserving life. Disproportionate means are those that in the patient's judgment do not offer a reasonable hope of benefit or entail an excessive burden, or impose excessive expense on the family or the community.
Comments/Questions
Prayer for a Time of Pandemic by Cameron Bellm

May we who are merely inconvenienced remember those whose lives are at stake.
May we who have no risk factors remember those most vulnerable.
May we who have the luxury of working from home remember those who must choose between preserving their health or making their rent.
May we who have the flexibility to care for our children when their schools close remember those who have no options.
May we who have to cancel our trips remember those that have no safe place to go.
May we who are losing our margin money in the tumult of the economic market remember those who have no margin at all.

As fear grips our country, let us choose love.
During this time when we cannot physically wrap our arms around each other, let us yet find ways to be the loving embrace of God to our neighbors. Amen.
