Cardinal Seán gave us his blessing and approval to move forward and we have literally run towards breaking ground for our new church following the fire of June 9, 2005. We are blessed with terrific parishioners here at Sacred Heart in Weymouth/Braintree. They didn't lose faith after the fire, and their love and support have been inspiring. Making this day even more special is the fact we will celebrate the opening of another new school year, which sees a substantial increase in the number of students attending Sacred Heart School. "
