

November 7 , 2007 - Archdiocese Statement Regarding Rev. David Ajemian

(Brighton, MA) November 7, 2007 - The Archdiocese of Boston today released the following statement regarding Rev. David Ajemian:

“The Archdiocese of Boston can confirm that Rev. David Ajemian was arrested in New York City on November 2, 2007 and is presently in the custody of New York City authorities. As a result of his arrest, the Archdiocese has placed Fr. Ajemian on leave and he is no longer able to exercise public ministry.

The Archdiocese has cooperated and continues to cooperate fully with New York authorities on this matter. Further, during this difficult time, the Archdiocese will offer pastoral support to all parties affected.

Out of respect to all parties involved, and in light of the pending legal proceedings, we decline further comment at this time.”

Copyright © 2007 Archdiocese of Boston; all rights reserved